GRAMÁTICA 1 · ¿PARA QUÉ SIRVE?

The passive to describe a process

Sirve para explicar cómo se hace algo paso a paso: una película, un producto, un plato o un video. Lo importante es el proceso, no quién lo hace.

IMAGINA

Explicas cómo se hace una película animada.

LA FÓRMULA

The passive to describe a process

is/are + participio · modal (can, should, has to, needs to) + be + participio · conectores: First, Then, Next, After that, Finally

SINGULAR

First, the script is written.

PLURAL

Then the actors are chosen.

CON MODAL

The scenes have to be filmed many times.

NECESIDAD

The music needs to be recorded.

POSIBILIDAD

The ending might be changed.

POR QUIÉN

The film is edited by the director.

EJEMPLOS

The passive to describe a process

First, the coffee beans are picked by hand.

Primero, los granos de café se recogen a mano.

Then they are dried in the sun.

Luego se secan al sol.

Every video has to be edited before it is posted.

Cada video tiene que editarse antes de publicarse.

Finally, the product is sent to the stores.

Finalmente, el producto se envía a las tiendas.

TRUCO

Proceso = «se + verbo» en español = is/are + participio en inglés. Con modal, agrega BE.

GRAMÁTICA 2 · ¿PARA QUÉ SIRVE?

Defining vs. non-defining relative clauses

Sirve para dar información sobre personas y profesiones: unas veces para identificar de quién hablas y otras para agregar un dato extra.

IMAGINA

Le describes a alguien distintos trabajos del mundo del cine y la música.

LA FÓRMULA

Defining vs. non-defining relative clauses

Defining: persona + who/that + … (sin comas) · Non-defining: persona, who + …, (con comas y solo who)

DEFINING

A stunt person is someone who does dangerous scenes.

DEFINING (THAT)

I want a job that pays well.

NON-DEFINING

My cousin, who is a DJ, plays at weddings.

NON-DEFINING

Shakira, who was born in Barranquilla, is famous worldwide.

EJEMPLOS

Defining vs. non-defining relative clauses

A screenwriter is a person who writes scripts.

Un guionista es una persona que escribe guiones.

My brother, who works in TV, met a famous actor.

Mi hermano, que trabaja en televisión, conoció a un actor famoso.

The singer that won the contest is from Medellín.

La cantante que ganó el concurso es de Medellín.

Carlos Vives, who is from Santa Marta, sings vallenato.

SPEAKING · YOUR TURN

Let's talk!

1. Explain how something is made, step by step (coffee, a video, a website). Use the passive.
2. Which creative job would you like to try? Why?
3. Describe a person you know who works in a creative job. Use a non-defining clause.
4. What's the best movie you've seen this year?
